Walking: Tryfan; Moel Siabod, Snowdon, The Glyders, The Carneddws. High level or Low level. A prime location to tackle any of these fantastic hills, and, if it takes you - some really great scrambling routes too.

Climbing: - There is simply masses of rock in this valley, and nearly all of it is covered in routes. Whilst the greatest concentration of routes is around Llyn Idwal and Tryfan, the climbing extends beyond there towards Capel Curig and the neighbouring valley. The crags are all are easily accessible with Milestone Buttress; Idwal Slabs; Little Tryfan etc. on the door.

MTB: Miles of biking in this area. Gwydir Forest - The Marin Trail -Big climbs, big views, big descents, this trail has it all.

Cycling: How about a circuit of the Glyderau by road with stunning mountain views and varied terrain. From the hut up the Ogwen Valley to Tregarth/Pentir/Brynrefail/then up the Llanberis Pass and back (34mls).

BEDS: Four bedrooms, all with ensuite shower and toilet, able to sleep a total of 20 persons – ladies only room too. Excellent lounge, kitchen, central heating. Decking at rear overlooking the waterfall and a log fire if it gets chilly in the evening.

COST: £27 for the weekend, plus around £3 /£4 for a two course dinner Sat night. Bring your own beer or wine (or tea) and don't forget your other food for Fri/Sat, trail fodder, and your sleeping bag.

STUFF you need to know: The catering corps will be in action Sat night, although you could try the Bryn Tyrch 200m away – if you're feeling extravagant.!

BEST PUB : By far, the Tan Y Coed in Capel. Excellent food, free house and we'll be meeting in here Fri from about 7pm (they do food orders until 9pm).
